Elementary Students Enjoy Hands-on Experience with Exotic Animals During "Rain Forest" Program

For one verdant afternoon, elementary-age students in the Romulus Community Schools got to experience a true taste of the exotic.

On September 26, Michael Kohlrrieser of Understanding Wildlife, Inc., brought part of his tropical menagerie to each of the district's five elementaries — Barth, Cory, Halecreek, Merriman, and Wick — to teach youngsters about the rain forest and its inhabitants. The school-day presentations were followed by a pair of much-more-elaborate stage shows that were open to the public.

"Understanding Wildlife is a non-profit organization with a goal of getting our conservation message out to as many people as we can," said Kohlrrieser. "Our 'Live on Stage... the Rain Forest' program has proven to be particularly effective in teaching and entertaining children. The show consists of a beautiful jungle setting with special effects that turn any stage or gym into a lush rain forest, plus a host of live animals such as alligators, snakes, jungle cats, monkeys, and birds."

The performances were an enormous success.

"The kids really enjoyed the daytime shows, which featured a 15-foot python named Molly and a colorful macaw named Kelly," said Romulus Middle School secretary Lynn Webb, who organized the event. "And those who attended the evening performances were thrilled by the opportunity to handle some of the exotic animals and have their pictures taken with them."

According to Webb, Kohlrrieser made his school-day presentations at no charge to the district. In return, he was allowed to use the auditorium facilities at Romulus High School, where he staged his moderately priced shows for the public. □

District Secretaries Embrace Fish! Philosophy

What kind of day did you have at work today?

Did you misplace an important file because you were distracted by thoughts of what to cook for dinner tonight? Did a stressful situation lead to unpleasant words between you and a co-worker or customer? Did you feel so dull and apathetic that every task seemed to overwhelm you?

If so, you need to join a growing number of Romulus Community Schools employees who are learning to "Catch the Spirit!"

"Last month, the district's secretaries took part in a motivational in-service program based on the 'Famous Fish Philosophy,'" said Carole Bales, executive secretary to the Superintendent and primary organizer of the presentation. "The program originated in Seattle, Washington, at a local fish market called Pike Place Fish.

"Years ago," she continued, "the market's employees were a typically dreary bunch who allowed the unpleasant aspects of their job – smelly fish, cold freezers, and long hours performing monotonous tasks – to influence their attitudes in a negative way. Today, the market is a place that's so full of excitement and positive energy that crowds of passersby often stop to watch the workers in action."

How did such a remarkable transformation take place? According to Bales, the adoption of a simple four-part philosophy was the key.

- Choose your attitude. (Accept full responsibility for all of your choices, even your attitude at work. There is always a choice about the way you do your work, even if there is not a choice about the work itself.)
- Play. (Fun is energizing and leads to creativity. Happy people treat others well, and time passes quickly in a cheerful atmosphere. Work becomes a reward in itself, and not just a way to gain other rewards.)
- Make Someone's Day. (Treating customers well will give you the satisfaction that comes to those who serve others. Focusing your attention on ways to make another person's day, instead of dwelling on your own problems, provides a constant flow of positive feedback.)
- Be Present. (Give your work, your customers, and your co-workers your full attention. When you are truly "present," you show consideration for the other person.)

"One of the tools that we used at our in-service program was a video about the Pike Place Fish philosophy," said Bales. "It was amazing to witness the atmosphere that the market workers created. One – shouting 'One salmon flying away to Minnesota!' – would throw an enormous fish to another, who would make a spectacular, one-handed grab to the applause of all the onlookers. Another would salute all the 'suits' in the lunchtime crowd – calling 'Hello, yogurt dudes!' – and they would promptly return his salute by raising their yogurt cups into the air. Still others would be juggling crabs, teasing a child by moving a fish's mouth and making it appear to talk, or just generally singing and dancing . . . and yet all were totally focused on their jobs, and gave their customers their undivided attention."

Bales was so excited about putting the Fish! philosophy into practice that she and the other in-service planners used the four guiding principles to organize their presentation.

"We really went all out!" she said. "We began with lots of colorful, playful decorations to set the mood, and focused on 'little touches' that showed everyone our commitment to the program and to each other. Before long, the energy just snowballed, and everyone's creative juices were flowing!"

Bales said that the secretaries' in-service was so successful that the program will be continued with other employee groups throughout the year.

"It made sense to begin with the secretaries," she explained. "We are usually the first individuals that face members of the public when they enter the building, and we are also usually the first people seen by staff members and students as they come in to begin their work."

"By adopting the Fish! philosophy, we hope that we can help all of these people have a more pleasant, productive day – and help ourselves do the same along the way!" □

Martial Arts Program Offers Alternative To Day Care

Martial-arts training teaches kids discipline and self-control, as well as self-confidence and self-defense.

Martial-arts training emphasizes discipline and self-control, along with physical activities that develop self-confidence and self-defense skills. The children's role-models are the instructors and older, higher-ranking students, so any "peer pressure" that they encounter encourages them toward better behavior, not worse.

The AMP is a nationally recognized program designed by educators to incorporate character-development exercises and fun activities as part of the martial-arts curriculum. They also have a unique program to help children carry their newly acquired behaviors from the classroom into the home.

After as little as one week, parents begin to see positive changes in their children.

One of the biggest conveniences of the AMP is the fact that transportation is provided from the academic school to the martial-arts school, all for about the same cost as a day-care program. Parents can pick up their children at the martial-arts school after work, knowing that their children are safe.

The AMP represents a departure from traditional day care. Not just an organized baby-sitting service, AMP is a specific skill program that supplements a child's education with self-improvement lessons and activities. Children who participate in the program gain a distinct advantage over their friends who do not.

For more information on the program and how it works, you can call America's Best Self-Defense (Hapkido) at 734-692-3960, or visit the company's Website: www.ushapki.com.

The Problem: Parents have long complained about the bad habits that their children are learning at day care, but they have had few alternatives to choose from.

The Solution: Now parents can send their children to an After-school Martial-arts Program instead of traditional day care.

America's Best Self-Defense, located at 2666 Fort Street in Trenton, has brought the nationally recognized AMP After-school Martial-arts Program to the Downriver area.

America's Best Self-Defense (Hapkido) offers parents a positive alternative to traditional day-care programs.

Sassy Seniors

By Mary E. Clark

Special thanks to Linda Norman, Senior Citizens Program Coordinator for the City of Romulus, and Melissa Morton, Manager of the Romulus Tower, for contributing information to this issue's "Sassy Seniors" column. (For more information about events at the Romulus Senior Center, located at 36515 Bibbins, please call 734-942-6852.)

Happy Birthday!

Best wishes for a wonderful birthday to those of my Tower neighbors born in the month of October: Priscilla Carter, Margaret Jeter, Deann Maupin, Margaret Meldrum, Ruth Pierson, Geraldine Smith, June Tracy, Medodean Weaver, and Geraldine Westbay.

Bake/Rummage Sale

Whispering Willows apartments (located at 11100 Wayne Road, across from City Hall) invites the public to attend its annual bake and rummage sale, to be held inside the building from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Friday, October 6, and Saturday, October 7.

Club #1 Welcomes New Members

The local senior-citizens group known as Club #1 welcomes new faces at its regular meetings, which are held at the Center each Tuesday at 11 a.m. unless otherwise noted. This month's agenda includes a trip to Apple Charlie's with "lunch out" (October 10, 10 a.m.); a regular meeting with "lunch in" (October 17), and a trip to a country store and bake sale with "bag lunch" (October 24).

Holiday Craft Classes

The Center invites seniors to sign up for the following holiday craft classes:

- Ghost (1 p.m. Saturday, October 14; $2.50),
- "Scarecrow Face" Straw Hat (1 p.m. Saturday, October 21; $5),
- Styrofoam Pumpkin/Silk Flowers (1 p.m. Saturday, October 21; $5), and
- Holiday Pie (1 p.m. Saturday, November 4; $6).

Luncheon Has Halloween Theme

The Senior Center's next monthly luncheon—set for Friday, October 27, at 1 p.m.—will feature a costume contest for those who would like to participate. (Costumes are optional, but frightfully fun!) Prizes will be awarded for:

- the funniest costume,
- the most colorful costume, and
- the costume that took the most time and thought to put together.

The menu will feature stuffed cabbage, baked chicken, mashed potatoes, and dessert.

Tickets ($5.50 per person) must be purchased by October 23.

Lunch Out

Ride the senior van to the Thomas Edison Inn for this month's "Lunch Out" program, set for Friday, October 20, at 10:30 a.m. Cost is $1.50 for transportation plus the price of your meal. Sign up at the Center.

Caribbean Cruise Travel Show

The Center will host a "Caribbean Cruise" travel show at 1:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 28, to help interested seniors plan for a seven-day trip that's now in the planning stage. Sign up at the Center.

Senior Support Group Seeks New Members

"Death, divorce, failed expectations, severe injury, major illness, loneliness, depression . . . these are experiences that hurt and bring pain," says Linda Norman, the Senior Center's Program Coordinator. "They are a part of being human; no one is immune."

That's why anyone who is facing a difficult time, needs help, or would just like to talk is urged to join one of the Center's brand-new Senior Support Groups, which held their first meetings this week. Group I will meet each Monday from 4 to 5 p.m.; Group II each Thursday from 1 to 2 p.m. Note: Dates and times are subject to change.

There is no charge to participate.

Focus: HOPE

The Romulus Senior Center is now a distribution center for Focus: HOPE, a program which provides free food on a monthly basis to qualifying seniors. The program operates in addition to the "Meals on Wheels" and "Liquid Nutrition" programs.

To qualify for Focus: HOPE, you must:

- be a resident of the Tri-County/Washenaw County area,
- be 60 years of age or older,
- provide proof of income, and
- have a valid Social Security card and photo ID.

Registrations for the program are currently being accepted at the Center during normal business hours. Please note that proof of income and ID must be provided at the time of registration.

Haircuts

The Senior Center's monthly haircut service has been canceled for October. The service will next be offered on November 20 at 9 a.m.

Hot Lunch

For just $1.50, Romulus seniors (age 60 and over) can enjoy a hot lunch at the Center any weekday at 11:30 a.m. Call at least 24 hours in advance.
